FACTS AND FANCIES

By Frank Fairborn

McKenzie King and the Munitions—

The Honorable William Lyon McKenzie King has made a "wonderful" discovery (?)

He has found out and announced in his public speeches, that the munitions which he saw being unloaded at Point Lévis, Quebec, were not, as Premier Meighen has stated, a gift from Great Britain—but were our own munitions which were not used in the Great War, being sent back to us.

This sounds very fine, but the only weak point about it is that it is not true—as a matter of fact the munitions that were taken overseas, from Canada, were purchased and paid for by the Imperial Munitions Board, consequently when the munitions arrived in England, they did not belong to Canada—they belonged to Great Britain—and some that were not used during the war were given as a gift to the Canadian Militia.

Had the Hon. William Lyon McKenzie King been in Canada during the war—or had he been serving at the front, during the war, as he should have been, he would have known this;—but as he was in the service of a millionaire in the United States, during the war, he is ignorant on many little points connected with war material, and consequently fell into the mistake he did, very easily.

It is my opinion that the Hon. William Lyon McKenzie King would give a good many of the American dollars that he earned in the United States, during the war if he had never "discovered" the munitions at Point Lévis or if he had been a head-tail of

He would not, then, have made the monstrous blunder which he stumbled into, when he tried to make political capital out of Great Britain's gift to Canada.

The poor old Toronto 'Globe' was so flustered and so disappointed with the ridiculous mistake McKenzie King made over the military stores which were sent back to us, from England, that it had to start into a tirade of abuse against the Government, in order to hide its chagrin—and in order to save its own face; and to cover up, as much as possible, the very foolish blunder made by the leader of the Liberal Party.

Thus, we find the 'Globe' day by day, carrying editorials abusing the Government for bringing to Canada the gifts made by the British Government to the Canadian Militia; and trying to injure the Government by stating that it was a horrible! terrible! and monstrous!!! thing for Canada to be bringing in munitions from Great Britain, when the United States was about to hold a conference on the question of World Disarmament.

If the Toronto 'Globe' thought more of its country and less of its party, it never would have been foolish enough to print these editorials—but the fact is that the Toronto 'Globe' and its editor would embroil their own country with a foreign country, or run the chance of doing so, if by this means it could gain a particle of advantage or throw some discredit onto the Meighen Government?

Most men can say, with the poet "My country 'tis of thee"—but the Editor of the 'Globe' never knew such sentiment—his whole thought is "My party 'tis of thee."

In every country in the world, the worst case of treason is that of a man revealing military secrets to another country—McKenzie King and the Editor of the Toronto 'Globe' have been guilty of both these things, and if they lived in some countries they would have faced a firing squad at sunrise.

No Value in Real Money Being Spent.
I regret to state that the Ontario Government has paid, and paid dearly for tarvia roads this year and has not yet got them.

I have driven over considerable mileage of new road built by the Department of Public Works and Highways, Ontario, and these roads were constructed as 'tarvia roads'—but I am sorry to say that they are not such—they are a high class of stone road, but they are not tarvia roads, and unless something is done in the near future, with all of them, to bring them into the tarvia class, they will not be permanent roads at all but merely makeshifts.

Both west and east of GRIMSBY the new road which is supposed to be tarvia is not tarvia; and is already showing deterioration—it is cutting into little waves and ruts and is, in some places, commencing to "pick up."

This is a sure sign that it is not a real tarvia road—a real tarvia road neither waves, ruts, or forms "pick up" holes.

The cause of this is that there is no one in the Department of Public Works and Highways, Ontario, or on the whole road building system who KNOWS—ignorance and incompetency is at the bottom of the whole thing.

Biggs knows no more about real road building than a little child—McLean is too lazy to bother his head—and the engineers are all greenhorns—so all of them are at the mercy of the contractors and the workmen.

A gang of road builders started to move the H. G. & B. Electric Railway tracks to the south side of the road, in front of A. F. Hawke's farm, some where about the year 1921—it is estimated, now, by good judges, that the road there will be completed about 1951.

The amount of time and money that has been spent on these few rods of road will probably necessitate the Treasury Department of the Ontario Government issuing a new loan.

For the second time in a little over a year new stone road is being built between GRIMSBY Beach and GRIMSBY.

Very good stone road was sent from GRIMSBY to GRIMSBY Beach, and it carried the traffic in very fair shape for about two months.

Although a repair gang was constantly at work on this road, during the most of the year, it has been in a horrible condition, during all of the past season.

A construction gang is now busy on this piece of road, building another stone road.

All we can do now is to wait patiently and see what the end may be.

On the piece of road immediately east of Snare's Store, Jordan, a new stone road was built about a year ago; and for a month it was a very good piece of road. Since that time, up to the present, it has been one of the worst pieces of road between Hamilton and the Niagara River.

What the ultimate situation with regard to this piece of road will be, our staff prophet cannot tell.

The U. F. O. Candidate—Lincoln—Mr. William Skull of Jordan Station, was nominated nearly two years ago, by the United Farmers of Ontario Party of the County of Lincoln, as their Federal nominee—He no longer holds that position, and a new man reigns in his stead.

The U. F. O. having no clearly established platform or principle is very much inclined to "off with the old, on with the new"—and so it was not surprising that the party got tired of Mr. Skull within two short years—whether their love for the new candidate will remain steadfast that long is a question yet to be answered.

At a convention of the party, at Jordan, a short time ago, Mr. William Skull handed in his resignation as the U. F. O. standard-bearer;—of course it was known, beforehand, that he would hand in his resignation; in fact the convention was called for the purpose of giving him the opportunity of handing it in.

And this was only carrying out one of the planks of the platform of the United Farmers of Ontario—which calls for the recall of a member elected to Parliament, if he does not suit the executive of the Party.

In this case Mr. Skull got his recall before he reached Parliament.

Mr. Arthur Craise, vice-president of the Niagara Peninsula Growers, Limited, is the new nominee of the United Farmers of Ontario party—what his definite and individual program is, I do not know as I have not yet seen his manifesto but it seems very strange to me that an officer of the fruit Company should accept a nomination of a party whose main platform is free trade.

It looks to me as if Mr. Arthur

Craise is trying to jump two ways at once.—If he wants to serve the fruit growers, in whose big Company he is an officer, he certainly would be out for high protection on Canadian fruit.

If he wants to suit the U. F. O., he should certainly be out for free trade, on fruit—So which way this cat is going to jump, I cannot see—it may be a jump out of the frying pan into the fire.

There are certain men, prominent in the fruit growers' Company, who are, if not pronounced free traders, strongly inclined that way—but these few men are men whose minds are so warped with free trade principles that they would sell their grandmother to gain a point for their party—and they would sacrifice the interests of the whole fruit growing industry in order to carry out their own narrow minded prejudices.

Craise may be one of these men—if he is, he will promptly and properly land where he deserves—in the ditch.

If he is not one of these, why is he linking himself up with the party that is shouting for free trade with the United States? why is he fawning on the country that is trying to kick Canada as hard as she can kick her?—and why is he seeking to link the hand that would smite him? ? ?

I await his public pronouncement.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS

The Strathroy Age sketches the following picture of a session of the Strathroy Town Council: "Black storm clouds gathered and threatened to break during the lengthy discussion sharp and caustic remarks flew across the table from one to another, but the major, after being repeatedly requested and urged to say he would sign the cheques due the commission, finally brought about a calm by signifying his intention to do so. Quite a number of interested spectators were present, the majority of them departing after the board had settled down again to solid, sober business."

The Strathroy people who attended that session probably knew in advance that there was going to be some excitement. They suspected some of the members would have something pointed to say, and so they went.

Very good, but once the excitement was over and the council settled down to the transaction of business, the crowd signified their interest in municipal affairs by departing.

Strathroy is not alone in this respect—not for one minute. Any municipality can furnish a parallel case. Even GRIMSBY for instance.

Let some spectacular issue be brought to the front—let it be made more or less certain that brick-laying is going to be indulged in, and the ratepayers become interested in municipal politics.

But let the council settle down to an intelligent discussion of civic business concerning matters where the good money of the ratepayers is at stake, where the fixing of their streets, the management of their debentures and sinking funds is considered—at once there is a gradual but increasing shuffling of feet, and the procession starts for the nearest and most convenient exit.

The following day, if there is any mention on the street of what took place at council, the emphasis is placed on the excitement or the personalities that took place. There is no mention at all of the honest work of some committee, composed of faithful aldermen or councillors who seek, week in and week out, to do the best possible thing for the ratepayers.

The situation is not new, but it is none the less regrettable. A healthy, sustained interest in municipal politics is as scarce as it is desirable.

What Canadians Could Learn From U.S. Tariff Experience

With a protective tariff the chief plank of the recently announced government platform on the coming election will be for, it is well for Canadians to consider the experience of that country whose conditions are analogous to those which confront the Dominion of Canada.

The history of all nations shows that starting from the same beginnings similar cycles mark the ascents or descents. Looking on what has been responsible for prosperity or depression. The welfare of your country at the present time is more necessary than it has been for some time past, for serious thought is given to factors that assure thornier and avoid the latter.

"Experience is a dischool but fools will learn in other," is an old adage that the pa which is advocating Free Trade tariff reduction seem to have overlooked. For with the example of policy that has brought the United States to such commercial prosperity before them they are willing and ready to subject Canada to the hazard experiment of embarking on their policies that have been tried found wanting by our astute neighbors.

The United States, the birth of that Republic has faced with conditions very similar to those which confront Canada. A vast area with unlimited natural resources with a population but from immigration, with clearances based on differences of active occupations, she has had same problems to contend with face our Dominion. On what nation then has she built up her merical prosperity that is unequaled today?

The only answer to the effects of protective low tariffs upon her economic life from her secession from union until today.

Following the warpendence the large importation of goods subject to little or no tax was proving ruinous to all the manufactures and meat employments. Debts had contracted and there was no money pay. This went on until 1789 the first work of Congress was a tariff measure. "For the art of the national debt and to encourage and protect manufactures."

The average of all importations, however was about 7 1/2 per cent. This was increased year by year until 1808 a much more protective tariff was enacted which placed duties upon articles the average rate being 12 1/2 per cent. At the same time was passed from England and which in the year, and a half's duration greatly stimulated production. The effect of these duties was strongly manifested in the development so that in 1810 was about $125,000,000. According to the Statistical Annex the United States agriculture by only furnished an abundant the inhabitants of the coast also in addition contributed enormous surplus for other use.

But soon this tariff found to be too low. Foreign imports made a determined effort to the country with manufacturing prices and a policy of duress entered upon. Describing the late President McKinley no duty is protective if the manufacturer is willing to pay the sacrifice of his own product selling his goods cheaper than make them in order to destroy industries and then step in and control markets.

In 1816 young as in industries 70,000 persons were engaged and made idle. The agit, thereby, not only lost his but had to divide his profits his products hardly paid for marketing."

Gloom and unrest over the country until in 1816 protective tariff was enacted brought the average ad valorem up to 37 percent. This was by improved conditions and so satisfactory that another was made in 1828 bringing it up to 45 percent. Curti historian sums up the result "The country made wonderful progress during the operation of the tariff of 1824 and 1828. In ruin and distress of 1820 we in become a prosperous nation 1830. The home market was by year by year of greater price. Wages had advanced and African laborer was even then a content unknown elsewhere. Thus in a little more than two years the relative merits of protection and Free Trade had been and the advantages of protection demonstrated."

But notwithstanding the national prosperity, it sighted greed for abnormal the agriculturalists of the states began to demand relief. This they succeeded in obtaining in 1833 when rates were cut than 50 per cent. But the had killed the goose that laid the golden eggs for in it decade followed a general of revenue, a general collapse of activity and a great before land and the people cried to for relief.

In 1842 a new measure was passed by which the rates in some cases as high as 75 percent" says Curti. Then the first came, the fires were lighted and the business of the treasury daily. Not only the gained relief at on receipts for the year ending June 30, 1872, 1872 under the compromise tariff, 1872, 1872 under the compromise tariff." The south found that its wealth did not increase proportionately with a reduction of duties but that the protective tariff had been its best friend.

But even this lesson did not convince all sections of the country. After four years of unrivalled prosperity, a demand was made once more for tariff reduction and in 1846 the most thoroughly Free Trade Act ever passed in the United States was put upon the statute books. The average rate on all imports was reduced to 23 per cent. The effect of this step was not immediately seen for the discovery of gold on the Californian coast, the war with Mexico and the demand for food stuff from abroad through continental wars and the famine in Ireland brought a certain abnormal prosperity.

But by 1844 unnatural condition had passed and a period of depression had begun. The New York Tribune of January 15, 1855 says, editorially: "The cry of hard times reaches us from every part of the country. The making of roads is stopped, factories are closed, and houses and ships are no longer being built. Factory hands, roadmakers, carpenters, bricklayers and laborers are idle and paralysis is embracing every pursuit in the country. If we could stop the import of foreign articles, the gold would soon cease to flow out to pay for them and money would become more abundant. Labor would then be in demand, shoes, clothing and other commodities would be sought for and men would cease to starve in the streets of our towns and cities. If it be not stopped, the gold must continue to go abroad and employment must from day to day become more scarce."

Conditions were deplorable despite the fact that California was pouring out gold at the rate of $50,000,000 a year. Distress increased until in 1861 Abraham Lincoln became president when a protective tariff was enacted within a few weeks. But that generation of Americans had learned a lesson and for twenty-five years the Low Tariff Democrats did not again get control of the financial situation.

The years since 1861 may be considered broadly as years of Protection. Fallings from grace resulted in salutary lessons. The Civil War necessitated tariff increases to meet the additional expenses of the government. Nor after the war was there a reduction. The beneficial effects were shown when the census of 1870 proved that the wealth of the country had doubled since 1860 and several reductions were made in specific articles notably in the rates on wool and woolsens but in the few years following the number of sheep in the country decreased by several millions.

Though several elections had taken place it was not until 1892 that a radical Low Tariff measure was proposed with the election of Cleveland. When this became law in 1894 depression and suspension of work among manufacturers resulted. Hun-drede of thousands of men were thrown out of employment. Prices of farm products fell. Armies of unemployed marched from city to city. McKinley, the apostle of protection was returned to office in 1896 and in the July following the Dingley Act a radically protective measure became law. Its title was "An act to provide revenue for the Government and encourage the industries of the United States."

This act was essentially protective and during the period of its existence that is until 1909 the prosperity of the United States has been very great. Home markets were preserved from foreign invasion and steady employment was furnished to laborers. Agriculture flourished and all classes of the community benefited.

In 1909 the Republicans increased their protective measures still further by a new customs tariff. But the nation forgetting its past experiences in 1912 returned a Democratic government, thinking that with a prosperity and market assured, still further progress might be made by lowering the tariff. This was accordingly done the following year when the Underwood Bill considerably lowered the tariff wall, but even at that it was still much higher than Canada's Tariff. Slight reciprocity concessions were given to Canadian wheat, flour, potatoes lately when the United States felt the need of these commodities. But how ephemeral these agreements were is shown by the revulsion of feeling across the border resulting in the passing of the recent Fordney Bill by which all arrangements were cancelled and heavy duties were imposed in the Canadian products. The reasons given by Mr. Fordney and others who support the measure were that the influx of Canadian farm products and other goods was injuring the farmer and manufacturer and that the importation of Canadian goods of every kind must be curtailed. That the Democratic program of lower tariff had proved detrimental was proved in the overwhelming consensus of American opinion which has just voiced itself in the ousting of that party and the triumphal return of the Republican party with a tariff wall higher than it has been for the past thirty years. Once again the United States has discovered that its prosperity lies in a high protective tariff.

If a country such as the United States finds after several very painful ill-fated excursions into the realm of Free Trade and Low Tariff, that its salvation lies alone in Protection is it logical that Canada which has a similar road to travel should repeat the mistakes of her neighbor? The self-interested politicians who would expose her to that risk are taking an unwarranted responsibility upon themselves and endangering the happiness and prosperity of every citizen. The Farmer party would make the same mistake that the Southern states made in 1833. The Liberal party advocating in its platform the passing of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1911 would expose the country to the commercial supremacy of a powerful competitor. Both parties disregard the map of prosperity which the history of tariff reform in the United States enrolls before our eyes. And by that very disregard declare themselves unfitted to guide our country in the promising future that lies ahead.

Conditions were deplorable despite the fact that California was pouring out gold at the rate of $50,000,000 a year. Distress increased until in 1861 Abraham Lincoln became president when a protective tariff was enacted within a few weeks. But that generation of Americans had learned a lesson and for twenty-five years the Low Tariff Democrats did not again get control of the financial situation.

Most of the people in this district make good efforts to keep their places looking nice, but the township authorities can spoil a good deal of the effect. The big willow tree behind the park chalet and the smaller pine tree near it are a dirty disgrace. The pine has been dead for more years than one, and the willow is more than half dead. The road commissioner's gang could get rid of these two eyesores in two or three hours and most anyone around there would haul the refuse away for the wood. It would not be necessary to cut more than the dead limbs from the willow and it would be a wonderful improvement.

The crown of the hill on the highway in front of H. K. Griffiths is being cut down to a more normal level. It should never have been built up.

The annual entertainment of the Junior Mission Band of St. Johns Church, GRIMSBY, in connection with the Thank-Offering meeting, will be held in the Church on Friday evening Nov. 4, at 7.45 o'clock. A splendid programme of music, songs, rhorus, recitation and play will be given by the members. Mr. Lessare will render selections on the cello. A cordial invitation is extended to the public—Offering.

Miss Y. Jones was a busy hostess on Saturday evening, when her many friends enjoyed her hospitality, and a musical evening of unusual excellence. The appreciative attention of some fifty people was held during the evening by gifted singers, musicians, and elocutionists. Among these were Mrs. Anderson, M. Lassere, Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Miss Hermiston, Capt. Anderson, Mrs. McLay, G. Johnson, Mrs. Hodge, Miss Vinden, Mr. Bourne, Miss Corsair. When the mere guest left, he left with two sentiments; one, that seldom had he been so entertained by music; the other, that it is a blessed gift that gifted musicians have, for they can give a pleasure which is most nearly perfect. Most people in most towns would have to travel miles to a great city to hear such music. Miss Jones' friends heard it in their "own home town." Sometimes one feels very glad that he lives in Grimsby.

A SPORTS FROCK OF RED AND WHITE SILK

BY MARIE BELMONT

Now that sports have so many devotees, it is frequently necessary to replenish ones attire for such occasions. The silk frock is one that possesses many practical qualities while it always looks well outdoors as well as in. This dress is made of red and white silk. The skirt shows a decorative use of the stripes in the flounces that extend from the front panel. Tucks are used on the waist and pearl buttons are chosen for the fastening. The collar accentuates the V-shaped neck opening, and the short sleeves are cuffed with the silk. The silk sash is tied on the side with short ends.

Obituary

JACOB BROOKS

The death occurred in North Grimsby at his home "Hillside" on Main street east on Thursday, Oct. 27, 1921, of Jacob Brooks in his 53rd year. The late Mr. Brooks was born in the county of Iron, April 30, 1868, and came to Grimsby eighteen years ago and became well known as a carpenter and building contractor, which business he followed for a number of years, and built many of the fine homes around Grimsby. Here he married Elizabeth McQuillan (nee Ofield) and had resided here ever since. He had been in poor health for several years and his death was not unexpected.

Mr. Brooks was a Conservative in politics, an adherent of the Baptist Church, a kind and loving father and good friend as the many floral tributes testified. Surviving are Mrs. Brooks and one daughter Pearl at home; two brothers and one sister, Arthur of Central, Ont., Thomas of Hammond, Indiana, and Mrs. L. J. Bell of Vancouver, B. C. The funeral took place on Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Queen's Lawn cemetery, the Rev. T. Ratcliffe conducting the services, assisted by the Rev. James T. Priest of Whitby, a former pastor here, and Mrs. F. M. Howar of Hamilton sang the deceased's favorite hymn "Heaven is My Home." The pallbearers were H. H. Marsh, Fred Marsh, J. H. Gibson, P. E. Tegunno, R. J. Snelinger and A. F. Hawke.

Mr. Brooks' two brothers were present, Thomas of Hammond having been present here or the past two weeks.

MRS. W. A. BROWNLEE

The community was greatly startled last Thursday when the word was passed around that Mrs. Dr. Brownlee had fallen down stairs in the early morning, and as a result of the shock had quietly passed away about 10.30 a.m.

Mrs. Brownlee came to Grimsby with her husband and family some thirteen years ago. She was an active member of the Baptist Church, the W. C. T. U., Women's Institute, and Red Cross. She was always ready to help in any good work. For the past three years she had been a poor health and therefore unable to participate in any of the work in which she was so greatly interested. Mrs. Brownlee was a most patient sufferer, never uttering any words of complaint, always thinking of others, and minutely displayed the gifts and graces of a devout Christian. She will be sadly missed by her husband, Dr. W. A. Brownlee, and her family, Dr. Basil E. Winipeg, Man.; Dr. Harold G. associated with his father in the dentistry; Miss Vera, who is teaching school in Toronto; Homer M., B.A., M.M. of Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Brownlee, a sister in the home, all of whom, together with many relatives of the family, and a host of other friends and neighbors were present at the funeral, Sunday afternoon, which was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Thos. Ratcliffe. Among those from a distance were a brother, Dr. M. Brownlee, of Woodstock, Ont.; a sister from Mount Forest; Dr. Frank McGuire and wife, from Buffalo, N. Y.; Dr. Webster, Dean of the College of Dentistry, Toronto; Dr. Wilmott, Sec. Treas. of the College of Dentistry and Dr. Adams, a prominent dentist of Toronto.

MRS. A. A. SMITH

Mrs. Abbey Adelaide Smith, 52 years old, and the wife of Levi Smith, near Winslow, Grimsby township, died on Monday morning, Oct. 31, at St. Joseph's hospital, Hamilton, after an illness of two weeks' duration. Deceased was born in Bismark, but for many years had resided in Winslow. The remains were conveyed from the chapel of A. H. Dinsworth & Co., via T. H. & B. to Winslow, where, following the funeral service, interment took place.

MRS. ALEXANDER TAYLOR

Isabella Finlay Ley Taylor, relict of the late Alexander Taylor formerly of Guelph, died at the home of her son Charles Taylor, Lake road, North Grimsby on Sunday, October 30, 1921. The late Mrs. Taylor was born in Scarborough and was married there moving to Guelph about sixty years ago. Ten years ago she came to Grimsby with her son, her husband having predeceased her nearly fifty years. A private service was held by the Rev. L. H. Currie of St. John's Presbyterian church of which congregation Mrs. Taylor was a member, at the home at 12.15 on Tuesday, Nov. 1 and the funeral took place at the G. T. R. Interment took place at Guelph on Wednesday morning. To mourn are left to sons and three daughters, James at Beamsville, Charles of Grimsby, Miss Kate Taylor of Grimsby and Miss Isabella and Daisy of Ottawa. The pall bearers at Grimsby were W. M. Stewart, C. W. B. Manson, A. Dow, J. H. Gibson, E. U. Patterson, T. Harvey Cook.

RUNNING THE WASH MACHINE

Wash day is a dread day not only to the average farm wife but her husband as well. It means work, upset, hurried meals and irritability.

Preparing for the ordeal the day before washing tends to make it lighter. Cut the soap, prepare the starch and put the clothes to soak the evening. Place the first wash in the machine and then the second on top; sprinkle a good wash powder over and add the water. In the morning draw off the water into a tub and take out the second washing and let soak until ready to wash. Never soak colored clothes over night.

Be sure the water is not too hot—as it has a tendency to cook the dirt into the articles and will be too warm for the colored clothes later on. Have it at a temperature that you can put your hand in and be sure to have enough to well cover the clothes—as this is one of the secrets of clean washing.

Run the machine about ten minutes for fine white clothes and seventeen for towels and colored garments. One cannot expect to wash clothes in three minutes and have them clean.

Place clothes in cool water and let come to a boil, having added a blue washing tablet or bottle bluing, and let boil about fifteen minutes. Rinse in sufficient bluing water. Use a long pan for starch and place below the wringer; run the clothes through this after dipping in the starch; it distributes the starch evenly and is a great time saver.

Hang small garments on the line by the shoulders and save the time spent later on pulling them into shape, as when hung by the hem. Hang voile waists, dresses, etc., white stockings, as well, where the breeze strikes them, as they have a tendency to dry streaked; especially in cases where one has not soft water to use. Take colored clothes off the line directly they are dry, as the sun fades them. Leave white clothes out to bleach if the day is sunny; over night as well is better, if there is no wind. Do not pin the handkerchiefs in together with the larger pieces, as they are awkward to handle and are much more apt to get lost. Pin three or four together by the corners on the line where the breeze can reach them. Do not place them in a sack, as this is not satisfactory and they will not dry properly.

Fold the sheets, towels, etc., when taking from the line and so avoid needless wrinkles. Do not iron underwear, sheets, coarse towels, etc., not only on account of the saving of labor but because the heat destroys the oxygen in them, so essential to health. Sprinkle the clothes the evening before the ironing day, as then the dampening is evenly distributed.

When ironing lace or embroidery trimmings, be sure to press on the wrong side, as this greatly improves the appearance of them. It is appalling the number of women who seem unaware of this fact.

To iron pillow-cases quickly fold them once the long way, press, fold once more and then fold up from the bottom; turn over and iron the last portion. Clothes should be sorted after ironing and those to be mended placed by themselves.

FOR EVENING WEAR—

Evening wraps this season are distinguished by great gorgeousness. They are fashioned from sumptuous materials and their colorings are amazingly beautiful. The model pictured is originated in a deep red velvet which falls most gracefully about the figure. Its trimming consists of a band of red satin which is veiled by white chiffon. This is placed upon the fronts and back in pleasing panel form. The collar emulates the fashionable Tuxedo. However, it is designed so that if desired it may be rolled tightly about the neck. The arm-slits are placed where the velvet meets the trimming.

Thanksgiving Day, Monday, Nov. 7th

Thanksgiving

Through days of grievous heartache.
In nights of bitter pain.
So many hopes have faded
So many plans proved vain;
But still the silver lining
Fringes the clouds overhead.
And newer hopes come thronging
Swift after those that fled.

Always another dawning
Follows the longest night.
Turn then from cheerless brooding
Look for the gleaming light;
Lift up the weak and weary
Who falter by the way,
So shall you find new blessings
On this Thanksgiving Day.

WHEN THE FROST IS ON THE PUNKIN

By JAMES WHITCOMBE RILEY

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock,
And you hear the kyouck and gobble of the struttin' turkey-cock,
And the clackin' of the guineys, and the cluckin' of the hens,
And the rooster's hallylooyer as he tiptoes on the fence;
O, it's then's the times a feller is a-feelin' at his best,
With the risin' sun to greet him from a night of peaceful rest,
As he leaves the house, bareheaded, and goes out to feed the stock,
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

They're something kindo' harty-like about the atmosphere
When the heat of summer's over and the coolin' fall is here—
Of course we miss the flowers, and the blossoms on the trees,
And the mumble of the hummin' birds and buzzin' of the bees;
But the air's so appetizin'; and the landscape through the haze
Of a crisp and sunny morning of the airy autumn days
Is a pictur' that no painter has the colorin' to mock—
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

The husky, rusty rassel of the tassels of the corn,
And the rasplin' of the tangled leaves, as golden as the morn;
The stubble in the furries—kindo' lonesome-like, but still
A-preachin' sermons to us of the barns they grewed to fill;
The strawstack in the medder, and the reaper in the shed;
The hosses in their stalls below—the clover overhead!
O, it sets my hart a-clickin' like the tickin' of a clock,
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

Then yur apples all is gathered, and the ones a feller keeps
Is poped around the cellar-floor in red and yellor heaps;
And your cider-makin's over, and your wimmern-folks is through
With their mince and apple-butter, and theyr souse and sausage, too!
I don't know how to tell it—but ef sich a thing could be
As the angels wantin' boardin', and they'd call around on ME—
I'd want to 'commodate 'em—all the whole-indurin' flock—
When the frost is on the punkin, and the fodder's in the shock.

"THE HOME OF QUALITY GROCERIES"

FOR THANKSGIVING DINNER

Every housewife wants the best. The value of Groceries depends on how good they are. If you buy a poor grade of groceries, that you are unable to use, it doesn't comfort you very much to know that you got them cheap. If you buy your groceries from us you will have the standing assurance that everything is the purest and the best that can be obtained. You will enjoy knowing, too, that the price you are paying for them is as low as can be found anywhere—of the same quality—often lower. Thanksgiving dinner is quite a task. Telephone us, and we will make a few suggestions that will help you out. Look over the following list and you will find many lines that will help for this festive occasion:

Farm Brand Pure Pork Sausage. Fresh Tenderloin. Figs.
Sweet Potatoes. "Iceberg" Lettuce. Squash.
California "Red Emperor" Grapes. Coast Sealed Oysters.
Brazil Nuts. Cauliflower. "Budded" Walnuts.

SAFETY RULES FOR STOVES AND FURNACES

1. Place stoves, furnaces and pipes far enough from walls and wood-work to avoid overheating.
2. Cover the nearest wooden surfaces with sheet asbestos, sheet iron or tin; if iron or tin is used, leave an air space behind it.
3. Where stovepipes or heating pipes pass through walls, enclose the pipes in galvanized iron, double-walled, ventilated chimneys at least twelve inches wider than the diameter of the pipes.
4. Protect the floor beneath the stove with sheet metal, and have it extend forward at least twelve inches directly beneath the door of the ash-pit.
5. Surround the base of the furnace with brick, stone or concrete.
6. Make sure that all pipes are free from rust, and that all joints and connections are sound and tight.
7. Fix a guard about the pipe in the attic so that nothing may be stored against it.
8. Never pour coal oil into a coal or wood stove, even when the fire is out.
9. Never put ashes into wooden boxes or barrels, have a strong metal can.
10. Study the drafts and dampers.
11. Do not let the stove or pipes

12. Keep stoves, furnaces, flues and chimneys clean.
13. Inspect the chimneys and flues to be sure that they are sound.
14. Do not dry wood in an oven.
15. Do not hang wet clothing too near a stove.
16. Keep curtains away from stoves and pipes.

SOME USES FOR VINEGAR

A teaspoonful of vinegar added to lard used for frying prevents the articles to be fried from absorbing too much fat.

A tablespoonful of vinegar added to the last rinsing water in which silk crepe de chine, and ribbons are washed freshens the colors and makes them look new.

In hot weather wash meat in vinegar and water to freshen it before cooking. If tough meat is soaked in a little vinegar the fibres will soften.

One or two tablespoonfuls of vinegar added to bath water in hot weather renders the bath more refreshing.

Added to the rinsing water, a few drops of vinegar will prevent the hair from appearing sticky after shampooing.

TO THE BUSINESS MAN

The function of an eye is to see—of an ear to hear—of the tongue to speak.

The function of an Advertisement is to sell goods.

The more goods it sells, the better it functions. The INDEPENDENT advertising functions perfectly.

Does your eye function? See then the difference in size between the crowd in the store that is using INDEPENDENT advertising, and the one which is not. Does your ear function? Listen then to the praises bestowed upon The INDEPENDENT advertising by people who know.

Your prosperity depends upon your sales, and these in turn depend upon your advertising. The maximum amounts of sales depends essentially upon the use of advertising!

So, if you will pardon a last, and a very personal question, does your brain function?

If it does, see to it that you use more advertising space in the INDEPENDENT!
